Japanese Hiragana & Katakana: Japanese use two letters : Hiragana & Katakana to write down Asian Alphabet Katakana is a syllabary (or syllabary script) that was developed to write phonetics in parts of Asia, partially because of the difficulty of the Chinese script, its cursive quality, and confusion with Latin. Katakana became influential in Japan and other parts of East Asia, and is still in use in other languages, especially Korean. It is used in the writing of Japanese and Chinese. Japanese is an hiragana writing system in which katakana are used for foreign words. The katakana is normally written by adding a diacritic above the vowel, or rarely by modifying the letter itself. The katakana are also used in Japanese dictionaries and for expressing foreign sound and sound combinations. Katakana and Hiragana are both Alphabets that represent vowel. Katakana & Hiragana have one of the most difficult characteristics as compared to other alphabet: they have no consonant in them. Any the closer related language have the consonant character that represent each sound that the Alphabets represent. Katakana & Hiragana only have the vowel character. Katakana and Hiragana do not always have the same pronunciation. Different people pronounce the same katakana or hiragana in different meaning. Most people use hiragana (ひらがな, Japanese Hiragana) to express pronunciation more faithfully. Hiragana - Katakana ひらがな- Learn Japanese Hiragana & Katakana [It is a kana writing script

* Exact controls: Swipe left and right, but no tilting! * Mega powerful score system: Collect pickups to complete sequences and climb up the global leaderboard! * Stunning new beautiful graphics: Full 3D with physics effects! * Plenty of new features: Switcher, Swarm, Dr. Hex, C-Haws, Detox, Nanowars, etc. * Spectacular soundtrack, by the cool Dash Star! * Cross-platform multiplayer: Play in PS4/PS Vita and switch online!AN AMAZING STORY by Greg Clarke It's easy to think of Astor Labs as a simple lemon juice company. But Astor Labs has just made history with the announcement of a biotech breakthrough that has the potential to transform the agricultural world, as well as create a global platform for high end juice. Greg has been on the boards for over 20 years. Greg is very familiar with the aqueous process and all of the various technologies used in making juice. But Greg is always looking for the next leap in fruit juice technology. As we have seen in past technology demonstrations, converting the traditional aqueous process to the biotechnology process is the next logical next step. As in, we can now do to the "juice" what we have done to the fruit. So why did Astor Labs feel the need to not only reinvent the traditional aqueous process, but also to take it to the next level? The fundamental difference between a plant and an animal is the basis for the perceived advantage of biotechnology. While plants rely on photosynthesis, animals rely on a whole host of cell division and growth mechanisms. In short, fruit juices are sourced from the plant, whereas meat is sourced from the animals. The problem has been this process never yields anything close to a consistent and controllable result. The problem isn't the fruit, it's the process. When I was growing up in the 1950's and 1960's, I remember my mom making juice every day. It wasn't a science lab. And it wasn't even that advanced. For the vast majority of people, not only would they not eat non-homogenized milk or white bread, they weren't aware of the nutritional benefits of citrus. So back in the 60' c9d1549cdd

The streamer is given a random concept, a square platform game or a vertical platform game. Players will be split into 2 (or however many players you want) teams and go head to head in a game of how much Boom can you get out of each player!To start the game the Host will need to click the start button. A round starts when the host clics the start button.Time starts when the host starts the game and the first team to get 100x the last survivor's total Boom Points wins! (or there are no survivors in the round)The game ends when no-one is alive, there are no survivors or it goes 1:0 in one team's favour. The team who is the champion gets the crown!If you want to play the game for a longer time, get more rounds in or play with a smaller group of players, there are a number of additional settings to choose from.All current versions can be downloaded through the Steam Store, Windows, Mac or Linux distributions.The game comes with the ability to keep a leaderboard of your current rank and a few times played statistics.You can give the game a theme such as a Black and White game or a platform like a MULTIPLE PLAYER version of Mario with Balloon karts or a ROBOT version with shooting cannons.On top of that you can add a background that changes the game to an option of a background color or a logo.Both the background and logo are fully resizable.You can also use the "Channel Point" integration to start a game for a number of rounds, word guesses, audio alerts, total time played or with the current round number.A victory cup is displayed for each team that are in the running for win points.Players can also submit the outcome of their games via the leaderboard. Gameplay "Bears on Twitch" Gameplay: Be a part of the game by playing with your own viewers by letting them battle it out for the Bears.The streamer will choose how long to play with and will be given 8 letters that are shuffled. Players will race to find out who has the words hidden in the game.Letters will re-shuffle as the game goes on. The game will end if there are no more words or if it goes 1:0 in one team's favour.The current winner will keep the prize. In addition to that the host will keep a point score for the Bears played.The leaderboard will show how many points the Bears have and if

Officer Mickey finds himself working for the City of Freemont as the Deputy Chief of Police. At first this was a great move for Mickey, but now the department has been kidnapped by the Gangsters and Mickey finds he has a great opportunity to really help the city he lives in. As Deputy Chief you will be given control of the Freemont Police Department. Each day you get a task to complete, at the same time the city will determine your rank, salary, and department manager. As you rise to new positions you will be able to influence the organization and change its policies and procedures. The Freemont city has many challenges to overcome. It is a bustling city with many businesses operating at full capacity, and any crime can affect the success of this struggling city. It is up to you to do everything in your power to work closely with the Mayor, the Chief of Police, and the Police Department to make Freemont a safe city for its residents. Guide the officers through each day of their shift keeping an eye out for suspicious characters. Help the officers when they need it and work closely with the Police Chief and the Mayor to direct officers to arrest the high-level criminals making up the city's criminal ecosystem. PERKS: Auto Patrol: Allows you to set auto patrol times for your officers, alerting them of suspicious activity in a given area. Recruit Police Officers: Allows you to bring new officers into your department. Teamwork: Allows you to build a Police Department from the ground up. Intelligence Services: Allows you to bring a different perspective to the police department as you reveal the details of crimes and criminal activities Hobby: Allows you to add a Recreation Team (swimming, dancing, boxing, etc) and a Chef Team (Cooking and Barista Machine Services). Police Housing: Allows you to purchase police housing, which consists of 4 officers and two civilians. Hospitality Lounge: Allows you to take a group of officers and civilians on a retreat into the mountains for a 10-day retreat. Crime Investigation - allows you to go undercover to find out more about an individual or a crime scene. Crime Diversion - allows you to divert a criminal investigation away from Freemont. Incentives: You can assign an incentive to your officers. Depending on the type of incentive you give, your officers will be assigned
