Product Information Sweet Plate incorporates a natural wicker basket which is filled to the top with super fresh strawberries, stone fruit and melon fruits with the flavour of lemon, lime and ginger. Sweet Plate with a Mocha Mist is available in a hand crafted, wooden jug which has been specifically made to maximise the flavour of the fruits. Watch the fruit being slow roasted by a natural steam which is converted to heat, thereby making this fruit produce a much sweeter flavour, but at the same time retain the freshness of flavour and juices. The vapour and steam are an integral part of this product, so all the fruits produce just the right amount of steam and heady, fresh aroma when you open the lid of this fruity, steamy e79caf774b

Why you should care Because the U.S. Department of Agriculture is getting rich off your coffee, and there's nothing you can do about it. By Kathleen Hickey The Daily Dose JUL 09 2016 In the U.S., the coffee farmers pay half the $20 billion a year the country spends on commodities. They also get virtually all the money from the sale of specialty roasting and grinding services, like those offered by Machinists Union Local 1566. "We're like Uber," said B.J. Eikenberry, a coffee grower in Bolivia and the union's national representative. "It's a computer. You put your coffee in and we pick it up." For all of coffee's many benefits, perhaps most of all it's among the most underpaid, said O'Neil. The price of a cup of coffee — let alone of a latte — can be much more than the guy on the corner selling it. (In 2015, the price of a pound of coffee rose 15 percent.) The farmers' union, Machinists Local 1566, has helped to keep prices down. It's given out thousands of scholarships to high school students to encourage them to study agriculture. It represents and works with the country's most politically powerful union,
